We Pakistanis are truly fortunate to be blessed with such an endearing and beautiful country. The positive socio-cultural characteristics, combined with the abundant natural features which Pakistan possess, make it a place worth seeing. The earth turns enlivened in the hands of the wise. DHA Lahore is the prestigious living society of our homeland which has been actively contributing a healthy living experience for its residents.

It has been quite an eventful journey for DHA Lahore since its inception. The conglomerate has made concentrated efforts to achieve high standards of living through benchmark practices of living, quality education, rigorous but fair regulation, safeguarding public interest and providing value added services for economy and business in Pakistan.

Message from Administrator DHA

DHA Lahore carries in its paradigm the complete features of interdisciplinary environment with our focus to build a community that reflects positive impact on people's lives.

DHA Lahore always seeks to build spaces and features that enhance life. Doing so requires thinking out of the box and designing amenities that are anything but standard. DHA Lahore being the community developer had made remarkable addition of the features to meet the needs and wants of our residents. Signal Free Corridor is one such endeavor of DHA to enhance the facilitation of residents and community's well being. The inconvenience that our esteemed residents have faced during the construction stage of this project is well realized by DHA management and we appreciate the patience and cooperation displayed by our residents in this regard.

Shopping malls tend to be a major attraction for the residents and tourist too. DHA is bringing mixed use projects such as Lahore Times Square and state-of-the-art Dolmen Mall. These one-stop shopping destinations are going to oil the wheel and make the living in DHA more joyous and colorful.

Addressing the environmental challenges, DHA has taken a glorified step by planting vast number of trees as part of its scheme of contributing towards Green Pakistan. Besides, DHA Lahore has been a trend setter for conservation of energy, water and many other fields. DHA Lahore is the only living area where physical measures have been made to augment the underground water table by laying a proper system i.e., networks of drains and percolation wells in its new phases.

Management of DHA Lahore feel privileged to be a role model in many aspects related to Housing Sector in Pakistan. We will continue to endeavour to achieve even better standards of living for our worthy residents.

I would like to appreciate the complete team of DHA Lahore for their efforts to keep DHA in good order persistently which is equally lauded by the residents.

THE DAY AND NIGHT TOIL GAVE RAISE TO THIS Wonder IN EIGHT MONTHS

SIGNAL FREE CORRIDOR

Lt Gen Aamer Riaz HI (M), Ex Commander 4 Corps, Lahore, inaugurated Signal Free Corridor (SFC) officially on November 29, 2018. He appreciated the founding team of SFC on completion of this elegant splendor, which is all time comfort for the residents.

DHA Lahore is one of the most systematic residential housing communities of the country, inhabiting a variety of people. DHA covers quite a significant portion of Lahore considering it spans over 12 phases, 21,000 houses, 100,000 residents, such a colossal base traversing of individuals from destination A to B is an exasperating task. During peak rush timings, interrupted flow of traffic at DHA entrances and exits has been a cause of annoyance for residents and visitors alike. DHA management came up with a smooth traffic flow solution and direct access for residents and visitors, hence came forth with the thought of DHA Lahore Signal Free Corridor. The project spreads from Walton Road to Phase V with multiple inflection points along the way. After months of construction by Messers M/S Maaksons, this project has been completed and is operational.

DHA Signal Free Corridor is five kilometers long from Defence Mor Walton Road to Wateen Chowk. It includes two flyovers and three underpasses whereas an impression space has been established for traffic management. The complete route is monitored through a number of CCTV cameras and 350 cameras installed under Punjab Safe City Authority are also integrated to the current monitoring security systems. For traffic management, DHA traffic sergeants on heavy bikes and vehicles undertake patrolling in the area.

DHA has provided its residents & visitors with a functional, convenient and time saving route. This project has been completed in record time with ample ease for residents and visitors alike. Before this corridor, it used to take 25 minutes to travel from Walton Road to DHA Phase V which has been significantly reduced to 3-5 minutes.

PHASE XIII (DHA CITY PROJECT)

WHEN CROWD HOOTED ITS DISAGREEMENT WITH DHA ...

THE TRUTH BEHIND

What do we feel about the people we encounter in our daily lives who are looters, burglars, filchers, housebreakers or tress passers? a sudden sense of trepidation we experience. We remain enmeshed in any disputing process and the delayed resolution of cases gives rise to constant agitation.

DHA City Project was an agony not for the sufferers only but for the Organization too, DHA itself being a victim of this conspiracy was sailing in the same boat with the sufferers but has been working always tirelessly to give harborage and relief to the affectees.

DHA is a trademark name for credibility, excellence and has earned a high name by following the transparency of procedures over the years. The yin and yang are interrelated to one another but the strong organizations like DHA remain committed to build image and avoid any cumbersome ways.

Recently, the news about DHA City Lahore has been a talk of the town. The intensive complaints and annoyance of public is well realized by DHA management which has been always ready to address the grievances.

What is DHA City Lahore issue? What was the planned location, what went wrong with this project? Let's address the facts.

Regretfully the case is simply that of promised land which wasn't delivered or made available, nor any development was initiated solely on the account of the failure of Globaco (Pvt) Ltd (DHA's JV partner). Over a period of time, there was complete silence on the development of the project from the JV Partner. Two years back a scam regarding this project emerged. The innocent public became the victim of fraud amounting to billions of rupees. Globaco (Pvt) Ltd secured the funds in their own account for personal interest. The management of Globaco (Pvt) Ltd in the beginning of the project, signed the agreement to develop DHA City project on 25,000 kanals of land with DHA but failed to acquire the required land. The company could only purchase very limited area and that too in scattered forms. There are over 11,000 registered affectees of DHA City.

DHA management remained engaged with Globaco (Pvt) Ltd continuously for the early clearance of liabilities. Hence, DHA referred the case to NAB as a last resort as Globaco (Pvt) Ltd committed criminal breach of trust and defaulted. DHA has already published public notices for the general awareness of the public in newspapers to seek correct information and absolve DHA from the fraudulent activity.

DHA has ever won public trust and is pleased to announce that the long awaited issue of DHA City Project has been resolved in the light of the judgment given by Honorable Supreme Court of Pakistan on 1st Jan 2019 in HRC 96122-P of 2018. The Honorable Supreme Court has directed DHA to take over the project for its development and handing over of plots to its members. DHA city project is renamed as DHA Phase XIII, the organization is eager to serve its members in the most congenial and friendly atmosphere.

Optimism is the faith that leads to achievement. Nothing can be done without hope and confidence.

– Hellen Keller

The persons faced with major life obstacles can overcome the life setbacks if we are ready to provide them a favourable atmosphere to explore the hidden abilities they possess. This needs to become the norm that a person with a disability should be treated with compassion because these differently abled persons are first and foremost human beings with desires, talents and skills just like everyone else. The differently abled persons are more ambitious and want to work .

Rising Sun Institute was established in 1984 by Dr. Abdul Tawwab Khan & Mrs. Parveen Abdul Tawwab as a special education center for mentally and physically challenged children. It has two campuses located in DHA and Mughalpura. It is the largest Institute for special education in Pakistan providing education, vocational & computer training, physio, hydro, speech therapy and various other forms of rehabilitation

Volunteers from the Hope Uplift Foundation also run a support program in which they provide money, education or sewing machines on monthly instalments to the poor communities living in the suburbs of DHA and in most cases the monthly instalments are waived off too as many parents could not even afford that.

As a part of DHA CSR vision, DHA has provided four kanals of land in Sector EE Phase IV to HUF and a four storey tall building is under construction to support HUF in their efforts to cater to the underprivileged. The construction work has been completed as a Build Operate Transfer project by DHA. The goal is to provide quality and state of the art education from play group to matric for the underprivileged.

DHA believes that everything we do to help organizations like HUF make a difference. The support we provide has a ripple effect. It helps the organization, the individuals it serves, their respective families, their communities, and it helps us.

PRIVILEGE FOR THE UNDERPRIVILEGED TEACH A CHILD (TAC)

The mark of a great nation is that it focuses on educational development of its children at an early age. Education changes people's perceptions by bringing positive thoughts and removing negative thoughts. It is the responsibility of every individual of the society to play their part in supporting educational projects / initiatives for the underprivileged because it provides an opportunity for us to prepare young minds irrespective of their socio-economic class, for the world we can't envisage yet.

Unfortunately in Pakistan provision of quality education to the underprivileged is still a much neglected area. Quality education is a luxury only a few can afford.

Defence Housing Authority Lahore has undertaken the initiative of providing "privileged education" to the underprivileged via Teach a child (TAC) School System. Officially inaugurated in October, TAC offers an opportunity to the wards of financially constrained families to enter an educational facility similar, in form and substance, to any privileged educational institution in Pakistan, from nursery to grade 5.

DHA campus located in Sector GG Phase contains highly qualified staff of 21 teachers. More than 350 families register themselves here every month. This school is not for DHA residents rather it is for the families who take up employment in DHA resident's home or its surrounding areas. TAC batch of 1998 is currently studying in universities including LUMS, LSE, Kinnaird College and FAST and these students will become future ambassadors of the school for their community.

With DHA's continuous efforts and allocation of more land, TAC Defence campus will further be able to enroll 250-300 more students in year 2020 for class 6th. Beside this, students for class 7th and 8th will also be catered in the future.

Gleeful Shindys

The chirping birds and buzzing bees of spring refers to rebirth, regrowth & reawakening. Spring is the season of year when nature whispers and reveals secrets of existence, flowers smile and create hopes in hearts.

The singing birds and dancing flowers are not only the contributors of colors of spring but DHA Lahore also plays a vigorous role to hold, preserve and share the beauties of Spring. The local name of this season of blossom and beauty is Mosam-ay-Bahar and DHA celebrates it as Jashn-e-Baharan.

DHA Lahore has this privilege to stage & celebrate the spring season by holding many floral and sports competitions with festivity and enthusiasm each year. DHA has held this year a mega event to welcome the spring and our esteemed residents, equally.

THE CREATION OF A THOUSAND FORESTS IS IN ONE ACORN.

Green is the prime color of the world, and from which its loveliness arises.

—Pedro Calderon de la Barca

Trees are one of our most precious natural resources. Having a beautiful green space has also been known to lower down blood pressure, reduce muscle tension, and improve attention spans and the best way to say "NO" to pollution.

DHA Horticulture branch is making an effort in maintaining and increasing the greenery in DHA by planting trees in all phases. It is actively involved in tree plantation of maximum native tree species to increase the green cover. DHA Horticulture is promoting tree plantation by arranging various events to bring awareness to the residents about the necessity of conserving nature.

DHA has proposed some salient measures for tree plantation. The management has decided to plant 101,977 plants all over in DHA Lahore. Choice of species and varieties is very important. Native, shady and oxygen producing varieties of plants have been selected which are also well suited to urban plantation. DHA is emphasizing on planting large size trees having an average height of 8-10 feet to ensure better survival and desired growth in less time. Well planted trees can resist extreme climatic events.

More than one Lac trees particularly semi mature trees would be planted in developing phases i.e. Phase VI to Ph IX. To beautify the view, trees will be planted at road shoulders. Every 5-10 marla house will have at least one tree, 1 kanal will have two trees and similarly 2 kanal house will have 4 trees. Desirous residents will be provided with free of cost trees at their doorsteps. Each street will have one shady and one flowering tree.

As these plantations have a direct impact on Ecosystem so they lead to various healthy outcomes such as improvement in extreme weather conditions and improved breathing conditions. In this way we are not only aiming towards a beautiful environment but a healthy one too.

The strategy of DHA is to plant more, protect more, maintain better and engage the community.

MARK OF A NEW BEGINNING 14TH AUGUST TREE PLANTATION DRIVE

Pakistan is blessed with intellectual people, amazing weather, jaw dropping scenery and abundance of natural resources which give us hope, a sense of security, safety and survival. With diverse altitudinal variations, Pakistan spans over a number of ecological regions from Thar to Karakorum. Each ecosystem has played a vital role in providing an economic basis of growth and developments. Keeping this in mind ecological concerns need to be the cornerstone of all strategic developmental considerations.

Fact of the matter is that the challenges of environmental degradation and adverse climatic changes have become too obvious in the country to be ignored any longer. Over 70 years of environmental degradation and deforestation has taken its toll. With just 2 to 5 percent of its original tree cover, Pakistan has as little as 2.2 percent of total forest cover.

Pakistan is no stranger to mass reforestation efforts. Housing communities like DHA have bylaws that ensure each residential area to have 62% dedicated Green Zone with plants and trees etc. All real estate communities should follow in the footsteps of DHA and they need to adopt the green policy in their institutional framework and develop capacity to mitigate the adverse impact on green environment. Integrating these practices into the urban projects from planning to implementation will improve long-term outlook.

Meanwhile Defence Housing Authority is working towards establishing DHA as a first ever green society in Pakistan with an initial milestone of planting more than 100,000 trees in a two months period with key focus on tree type e.g., planting trees that are native to the region (38 species) that offers more shade and oxygen levels. DHA is focused towards building healthier living conditions for generations to come so they can reap the benefit of today's efforts.

Besides plantation of new trees, maintenance of existing trees is also a significant measure which DHA has voluntarily undertaken by providing trees with 13 key micronutrients to keep them healthy. Protocols like, no person shall climb, bark, peel, cut, deface, remove, injure, root up or otherwise destroy or damage any tree or part thereof located in DHA Lahore have been strictly implemented.

On 14th August 2018 DHA held a ceremony under the leadership of Administrator DHA Lahore Brig Muhammad Sajid Khokhar, who appreciated efforts for greens zones and plantation drives. He also inaugurated the event by planting a tree to begin the festivities of 14th August.

THE CORRECT ZEALOTRY OF THE HEROES

Martyrdom is not limited to the ambit of a state or the limits of a home-grown ideology. When a mortal being walks on the path of truth, sacrifice and putting something other than himself first, in the process, gives up his life, he becomes immortal.

Pakistan emerged after sacrifices of more than one million people. The story did not end here but continued with more sacrifices during our wars. There have been astounding marvels by the armed forces in endeavor to safeguard borders. Officers, junior commissioned officers and other ranks, performed breath-taking miraculous and incredible sacrifices in protection of our mother land. There are many tales of martyrdom, starting from Major Tufail Shaheed, Capt Sarwar Shaheed, Major Aziz Bhatti Shaheed, Pilot Officer Rashid Minhas Shaheed, Hav Lalik Jan, L/Naik Mahfooz Shaheed and thousands others which cannot be forgotten.

This is a country where a mother's eyes swell with tears of gratitude to the Almighty that her son has died a martyr's death when her son's body comes home wrapped in the Pakistan's flag. Numerous sacrifices have been rendered by the Pakistani armed forces with an unprecedented spirit of unity and determination to counter the enemy attacks and safeguard Pakistan's territorial integrity. Globally, Pakistan Army ranks sixth in terms of manpower and they are the third largest contributor of troops to United Nations Peacekeeping missions and have the largest women representation in the Muslim world. While this does trigger a very strong sense of nationalism but we have to look at the families who have sacrificed their everything for our tomorrow.

DHA Lahore never forgets the sacrifices of their heroes and pays homage to all fearless and brave soldiers of the armed forces who shed their precious blood in defense & love of their mother land.

DHA has exhibited its gratitude to Shuhda and their families by developing Shuhda Support programme. DHA has designated a special team of representatives in each branch for handling concerns of the families of Shuhda. When one achieves martyrdom while in service of the country their family is allotted plot in Defense Housing Authority. They need assistance in building, buying or selling of this land and DHA has designated staff and setup to facilitate this process.

An example of DHA's dedication and appreciation to the shaheed came from within the organization when one of our staff Abdul Hakeem (Retd) from Pakistan Army working in DHA as a security guard was gunned down while safeguarding the residents/visitors in the mosque of X block Phase III. No medal or worldly benefit can substitute the sacrifice of martyrs however DHA in its capacity tried to acknowledge the great sacrifice made by Abdul Hakeem by supporting his family in different ways. Our Prayers and support are with the family of the Shaheed.

Hina Babar

This is the story of bravery and courage of Captain Fasih Babar Amin Shaheed (SBt) and how a son of the soil valiantly fought for its motherland. Capt Fasih Babar embraced shahadat while combating terrorism on 21st June 2012 during Operation Allah Wali Strike-2, in Ladha Sector of South Waziristan Agency. It was aimed at eliminating the militants ring leader Molvi Shamim who had master minded the operation opposing a Baloch Unit in 2007. Captain Fasih Babar Amin, General Staff Officer-3 (Operations) 24 Brigade along with the Commander Brig Ehsan Ali Shah moved to the forward most blocking position. Here they exchanged intense fire with the terrorists who were occupying the dominating heights. Having sensed that the militants were trying to cordon off their position Captain Fasih Babar volunteered to engage the enemy. He along with two soldiers went ahead at a vintage point, stood up in the face of enemy fire and taking no time engaged the miscreants himself by firing Rocket Propelled Grenades, which effectively neutralized the target.

Meanwhile his right flank was pinned down by concentrated enemy fire from all directions and four soldiers received bullet injuries. He immediately rushed ahead and managed to extricate the injured one by one on his shoulders. During this course, he kept on providing covering fire, directing tank and artillery fire on enemy positions which enabled the pinned down platoon to safely fall back. In fact, at that point in time he had become the main focus of enemy fire. Though Capt Fasih was continuously asked by his Brigade Commander to get back, but the bravery and honor did not allow him to retreat. Every time his reply was, "Sir how can I leave the injured jawans and their weapons behind " and he continued fighting with full control on his nerves. After having ensured the safe evacuation of casualties and move back of the troops he thrice crawled back on the forward slope of the ridge and brought back the left behind light machine gun and other weapons.

Last of all he was retreating by leap frog with light machine gun in his hand and firing on the enemy that he received two bullets one each on his abdomen and chest. During evacuation, he embraced Shahadat in the same operational area. However, the officer's commitment and devotion to hold his position till the last moment and display of exceptional initiative and comradeship resulted not only in foiling nefarious designs of terrorists but also saved the brigade commander along with his 'Order Group', platoon strength of jawans from being captured and landing into enemy's hands.

The Young Coffins are the Heaviest

Hassan Basharat

Lt. Arsalan was a 22 year old, newly passed out from the PMA, with an aim to join the legacy of esteemed officers. Not very long ago, his family was sitting in an enclosure, watching the passing out parade of their son at PMA.

Arsalan became pride for his father who was a school teacher. After completing his joining break, he finally joined his Unit. Soon after, he joined his platoon on the Pak-Afghan Border. He called his mother the day before moving to the post, and told her that he is going on the post and will call her when he returns.

On 23rd September, Lt Arsalan received a phone call from Unit HQ, ordering him to return from the post. As he was getting ready, a sniper from Afghanistan soil spotted him and took the shot. Everything was vanished; a black screen was in-front of his eyes. Doctors tried their best but Lt Arsalan embraced "Shahaadat".

A mother sacrificed her only son for this great country, sisters lost their only brother, and the father lost his strength. Arsalan family was in great shock. The life which parents thought for Arsalan is gone in memories. Everything stands still that day. He gave his life for us. We saw news, pictures and said, "Oh! So young" and continued with our daily chores. Our eyes are fixated on non issues. The young coffins are heavy for parents. After two months Arsalan father died due to heart attack in Murree.

We can't understand the feelings of a shaheed's family.

"The souls of martyrs are alive in the bodies of green birds who have their nests in chandeliers hanging from the Throne of the Almighty."

Respect your martyrs because they are bringing peace and giving you back the life you live by sacrificing their own.

Long Live Pakistan – Long Live the Armed Forces of Pakistan!!!

To foster the sense of community and to ensure effective feedback mechanism with our worthy members, in the year 2012 DHA management decided to hold quarterly phasewise meeting with DHA residents where DHA officials of all branches directly interact with the residents.

The purpose of this meeting is to provide a platform to the residents for raising their voice, concerns, ideas, community issues and problems. This forum is also used to obtain valuable suggestions/ comments/feedback of our worthy residents that can be incorporated for future projects in order to improve the facilities and services provided by DHA.

Open channels of communication ensure beneficial pathways for the employer and the employee. ADHA's Durbar, the one feature that differentiates DHA from many other organizations is a shining example of how DHA is working tirelessly towards the facilitation of the residents as well as the employees.

COMMUNITY CONVERSATION

BLIND MEN AND AN ELEPHANT

ABID LATIF SINDHU

There was a town in which all the inhabitants were unfortunately blind. There a stray elephant came from the jungle, as the people could not see, so everybody defined elephant by touching some part of its body, there were uncountable definitions, unmeasurable interpretations, but not even one person could name the elephant. Such is the outreach of human interpretations. When it comes to religion, the same become sacrosanct. Jungles are run by rules, the rules of bio diversity and hierarchy of species. The well being index of jungle is measured by examining the health of lions, being the umbrella specie, as it depicts that there is an abundance of other species which comes in their food chain. In society the different laws of well being applies, here the health of a society is measured by looking at the well being index of the weakest, the poorest and the desolate. Societies were formed when homo sapiens shifted from jungle and came to know that now different rules apply for the sustenance and survival of human species. Societies are eaten up by the growth of parasitic mold in the form of dogmas from within. This phenomenon of political decay makes societies more primitive by every passing day. Political decay and the term political development are closer to the studies of sociology, economics, anthropology and the history, rather than being part of mere politics. Question arises here, is Pakistani society suffering from political decay or there is a lack of political modernisation over all these decades. A society which was much open in debate and reasoning in 1960's is clinched inwardly up to a level of recluse. To understand this, the concept of political development of a society is to be understood first. Political development takes the route of rationalization, integration, and democratisation. This is achieved through national integration and assimilation, identifying the crisis of national identity and moving on to the sacred act of nation building. Finding the crisis of national identity is so important that Samuel Huntington in his famous book "Who are we" defined the coming into being of American nation through the complete process of political evolution under the principle of ethnic diversity. Societies progress once they achieve the art of associating together, as explained by de-Tocqueville. Traditional societies are usually non participant and deploys people by kinship into communities, isolated in political and sociological terms from each

“ Kind words do not cost much. Yet they accomplish much. ”
— Blaise Pascal

other (despite living together for centuries) and the centre. The creation of political centre is therefore very important. The present political revolution in the world after the third wave is the participation explosion. Identification of political development with modernization in infrastructure, roads, motorways, airports etc is actually the reduction of time and space by the vectors of communication, energy and transportation, the progress in thought, reason and the society is still a question which haunts whenever the mob blocks the road and questions your fidelity. Theory of progress of a society passes the benchmarks of national integration, international accommodation, political participation (not only the ritual of vote casting once every five years) and welfare distribution. If social mobilisation due to technological advancement of sophisticated means of communications in the hands of doctinated masses outpace the development of political institutions, it will result into frustration and new social actor would create a huge hyperbole outside the political participatory system. The last four days vindicates the same when TLP gridlocked the complete country with scores of incidences in which the properties and belonging of common citizens were damaged and burnt. In Pakistan the social mobilisation through cheap network packages (a new connectivity mantra) is outrunning the ability of political institutions to incorporate these actors in the system and also this is outpacing the capacity of state institutions of law and order to respond. Francis Fukuyama in his famous book on political decay defined that how societies should grow with every era of modernization. State is defined by Max Weber as the legitimate monopoly of force that covers a defined area. Rule of law and the accountability as per Fukuyama are two principles upon which state functions along with others. Every state has its social theory, as per its own social and political aspirations. European social theory was killed after the two world wars. This was scary; the social scientists led by Talcott Parsons started a research in Harvard with a hope to create an integrated, interdisciplinary social science that would combine economics, sociology, political science, and anthropology to carve out new social and political laws and dogmas under overarching modernisation. Pakistan can take a cue from this programme of Harvard and find out its theory of progress and development. Foreign terminologies, good practices, case studies and references of research are appreciable only when it works for us. No state in this complex era of modernity can live without its own social theory. Father of nation had already given the guiding principle that "you are free to go to your mosques, temples and places of worship". Ibn-Khalddun's muqqadama is nothing but the theory of political economy which many European countries have adopted in ditto. Khalladun says that everything actually revolves around economic surplus, a state is duty bound to create the surplus and the best surplus is the specialization of economy. Pakistani state can learn from Ibn-Khalddun, whose economy theories resulted into social equality even after the failure of European social theory.

Perils of Modern Technology

Naiha Shafiq – Phase IV, DHA Lahore

Modern technology is changing the way our brain works. It is a crisis that would threaten long held notions of who we are, what we do and how we behave. The crises could reshape how we interact with each other, what makes us happy and modify our capacity of reaching our full potential as individuals. It is caused by one simple fact the human brain is the only organ who is vulnerable to adapt changes. It is the most sensitive organ human body.

Modern technology is most luring, happening and advanced thing in our lives. This lets artificial intelligence sweeps right in our private lives with our honourable permission unless we wake up to damage that the gadget-filled, pharmaceutically enhanced 21century is doing to our brains, we could be sleepwalking towards a future that is a thin line between living and non-living machines and between our bodies and the outside world.

It should come as no surprise then that the use of this narrative has been used repeatedly in reporting the dangers of technology use by children. The list of harms that will befall children using technology is extensive but ranges from increasing incidents of speech defects, increasing obesity and a greater likelihood of brain cancer.

The link between technology and obesity is a particularly interesting example of how blame can be attributed very easily without very much evidence. One particular analysis was carried out by examining the level of a country's investment in information technology and its rate of obesity. The data shows a clear relationship with increasing investment in technology and an increase in obesity of the population. The narrative that accompanies this observation is clear and simple. The "cause" of the obesity is the lack of activity brought on by increased use of computers and other technologies such as televisions and cars.

The evidence linking the use of technology and speech defects is equally absent. One article suggesting the link, reported the observation of an increased incidence children with speech defects of an inner-city schools. The evidence that this was related to technology use was absent but the inference was there because the school principal expressed their concern that it was a cause. In both the article and the comments the observation that everyone can recall what seems to them the ubiquitous use of technology by parents and their use of that technology to pacify their kids - something that is known colloquially as "Pass 'n' Play".

In the meantime however, we will continue to see researches calling for a ban of handheld technologies for children under the age of 12. In this case, most of the evidence presented as being causal of everything from mental illness to generalised addiction relates to studies talking about passive TV use again highlighting relationships and not causes.

It is interesting to note that almost the same claims of harm from technology use were made on the introduction of the original telephone at the turn of the 20th Century. The telephone was then believed to be a potential cause of insanity, nervous excitability and contagious disease.

The story of the technological dangers to children is a particularly effective one as nobody would knowingly put their children in harm's way. There is also something to be said of the old saying that everything should be done in moderation and so moderating children's access to technology is not likely to be a bad thing.

There is no such thing as a perfect parent. So just be a real one.

Kiran Faisal – Phase VIII, DHA Lahore

Nothing prepares you for the curve ball life throws at you when you become a parent. You may have found solutions for all the worst-case scenarios, read up on all the literature, but when the moment arrives you remain clueless. Sure there are people around who claim they are always there to help. They believe just because they have kids of their own, you are obliged to listen to them whether you want to or not. But don't be fooled. Whether they are the parents of a 1 day old or a 15-year-old, no one is sure of what they are doing, except for the professionals of course.

Raising a happy & healthy child is one of the most challenging yet most rewarding job in the world, still no one approaches this job as a real one. Focus is somehow lost in mealtime battles and physical fitness while in need of hand in hand parenting user manual, everyone is in search of. For adults "Play" means leisure but with children, Play is more like a job. Primarily Play can be a user guide for new parents to understand child's way of thinking, his way of approaching to scenarios, and connectivity.

The potential of Play Learning is the best tool for a parent whose potential is limitless which can also help in managing behavior. It's not enough to let them have a sound playtime, keeping a helpful eye will always be a great deal of help in parenting.

There are parenting books, adults and public opinions on the matter available whether you want them or not but nobody talks about the Taboos of parenting like preferring one child over the other. We all have been guilty of that one, at one point or the other. We all have our moments good days or bad days and we often as kids use to wonder our parents prefer one sibling over the other. The truth of the matter is common for a parent to feel a closer fit with one child over the other for a simple reason. Some kids are easier than the others that doesn't mean you loves the other one more it simple matter of understanding and ease, because parents often need a break, rest assured its normal. Be also mindful of all ways to mitigate sibling rivalry otherwise you'll get the title of being biased. You have to remember and remind yourself consistently that never compare and value each one for their different nature.

The fun starts when a toddler is having a meltdown, it's an everyday uphill battle for your child to cooperate with whether its mealtime or change of clothes and the outcome is always yelling. Research indicates yelling at a toddler damages their confidence but it's a old fashioned and seasoned techniques that has been hand down from generations to generations. We all have been through our parents threatening, shouting and the occasional beating whereas a time out is a much better alternative to the above which doesn't damages a child psyche.

it is true that children demand a lot of care and attention in the early years of their lives. However, an excess of everything is wrong; hugs and pampered attention during a tantrum, the instant reward given after a high-pitched protest, or the constant unhealthy quest of academic limelight instead of a healthy mission of rightful upbringing – are all factors detrimental to instilling correct moral instincts in our children in their most important years.

Parenting is a lifelong, arduous, yet meaningful gift from God. It is a constant attempt in learning to shift between fruitful attention and essential ignorance between a child's momentary happiness and the thought of his future self and between loud weeping and vibrant giggles. Our reaction in each of these sweet and rough moments tests us as a parent.

It certainly takes a village to raise a child,

Channeling Art

Syed Hamza Aamir, Phase VI, DHA Lahore

We all want to live happy lives but we often find ourselves stressed out these days, do we not? Not just teenagers but all types of people in general. Our lives have gotten more restrictive and structured, now more than ever.

Is structure a bad thing? Not at all, in fact it helps us follow patterns to get a consistent amount of output from us. Helps us keep in line of boundaries that we have set and aids us in managing time, making the most out of it.

However, these patterns have consumed us. It has taken over us, to the point where it's not just a pattern anymore, it's a cage. It's the only thing that we do. It locks up a natural part of us. A part that is often neglected. A part which is deprived of attendance and notice. The key to unlock that energy and power lies within art. Have you not wanted to break through the cage recently? Ironically enough, most of us already love art. We're just too scared to let it take control. Art comes in limitless forms, forms that we might not have even tapped into yet. An infinite amount of blessing waiting to be discovered only if man accepts it more. Naturally, the opposing view would be something that goes along the lines of art putting other things like study and work at risk. Hear me out here.

For me personally, art came in form of music when I first picked up a guitar. From just casually playing for an hour or two, it then became a part of me. I have been depressed and I'm not afraid to say otherwise. Music has helped me channel my thoughts and has helped me keep myself in order when everything else was going wrong. In fact it has single-handedly kept me stable when absolutely nothing else would. I'm happier and my grades have not been affected at all, in fact I now keep a more positive attitude towards my studies and everything else in general.

We do not prioritize our mental health anymore and that is the reason why we do not live happy lives. Sure there is a risk factor when you want to become an artist but does it really need to be weighed off with an entire lifetime of doing something that you don't want?

Sure, we can be successful in whatever we put effort into but realistically speaking, nothing gives a stronger push than passion towards something that you believe in. Furthermore that risk factor would not have even been there in the first place if we acknowledged and respected various forms of art and carried them around as part of what we study. I've always been skeptical about how we live our lives. The nine to five jobs that we sit at. Prioritizing what society expects of us over our true desires. Surely, money is a huge driving factor for the paths that we choose but at the end of the day, you cannot buy happiness and happiness is what is truly important.

"If you had a second chance in life, would you have followed your passion?" I often ask this question from a lot of different people that are older and have established careers. Yet over 90 percent say that they would have followed their passion. I believe that if you love to do something enough, you'll find a way to make money out of it.

The world is flooding with doctors, engineers and business men. People are competing for jobs that they don't even want. We do not require any more of that. We just need to open that door. Watch the fountain of art gush out. Watch it bring happiness and purpose to our lives. We need more artists, we need more art.

An hour of need

The earth maintains a habitual temperature due to greenhouse effect that allows heat from the sun to penetrate in atmosphere where it is absorbed by earth's surface and radiated out or reflected back to earth by greenhouse gases present in the atmosphere. Without it the earth would be a hostile planet and non-habitual. However maintaining earth's natural balance is necessary to keep a viable range for life which is a very thin line that can be crossed easily. Greenhouse gases are naturally occurring gases that pose no harm when they are in balance however when they are present in excess system becomes unstable and things start to go awry.

Global warming is term used to describe a gradual increase in earth's temperature and its ocean that is permanently changing its climate. There is a great debate as to if global warming is real or hoax, but scientist by looking at the data confirms that the planet is warming. The scientific consensus on climate change related to global warming is that average temperature of earth has risen between 0.4 °C to 0.8°C over the past 100 years. The increased volumes of carbon dioxide and other greenhouse gases released by burning of fossil fuels, land clearings, agriculture and other human activities are primarily believed to be the sources of global warming that have occurred over the past 50 years. Scientists from inter-governmental panel have predicted that the global temperature could increase between 1.4°C to 5.8°C degrees by the year 2100.

The most important greenhouse gases are carbon dioxide, nitrous oxide and water vapors. While all these gases occur naturally but emission from human sources have caused their level to increase that is unsustainable. This is largely due to burning of fossil fuels, deforestation as a result for logging for timber and clearing for agriculture and development. Burning of coal to generate electricity, power stations, cars and aircrafts. Burning of wood changes the state of stored organic carbon to gas which is released in atmosphere. Decomposing organic matter in form of landfills, animal waste, sewerage and dams are human sources of methane.

The most immediate and obvious effect of climate change is the increase in the temperature around the world. According to national oceanic atmosphere administration worldwide 2012 was the warmest year. In 2007 it was determined that spread of diseases, warming of water resulting in more hurricanes, probability of more droughts, heat waves, economic consequences and melting on polar icecaps are the 5 deadliest effects of global warming. Rising in sea level causes millions of people who live on coastal regions to migrate to safer regions. Insects migrate to warmer regions carrying diseases. In addition a threat of increased chance of more powerful hurricanes for example hurricane Katrina in New Orleans US state was a catastrophe which brought economic struggle. People are still homeless, finding jobs as many businesses were destroyed.

The occurrence of heat waves and droughts are phenomenal. During monsoon countries experience droughts and famine specially in Africa where people are already living below poverty line and experiencing food shortages and low water supplies and extreme heat waves. The world economic forum has warned that the current food system in the world needs fundamental transformation to be able to meet human needs within planetary boundaries in 2030. Over two billion people suffer from malnutrition which could lead to development challenges.

In an increasingly volatile world, the resilience for food system and security is dependent upon trust on government and corporate institutions and a lot is being done in this regard. Global earth summits, Kyoto protocol and Paris agreement, a major milestone in world history in which nearly 200 countries committed to strive to keep global warming below 2 degrees

Global warming is a threatening sign for Pakistan as well. Its impact will increase political and economic instability and security. During past several years Pakistan has witnessed firsthand catastrophic floods which has displaced millions, severe droughts in Thar and Baluchistan. Frequency of these floods have increased due to melting of glaciers and heavy rainfall. Karachi, Pakistan's metropolitan city being a seaport carries greater threat which is closer to Indus delta flowing in Arabian Sea. High sea level threatens ecosystem as it leads to soil erosion and increase the salinity of creeks flowing from Indus creating inhospitable habitat for aquatic life.

Our climate is changing. Fresh water reserves, fish stock, forests are shrinking, fertile land is being destroyed, many species are becoming extinct. In order to prevent the worst consequences there is a dire need to balance our population with available resources and to reduce our consumption of goods and energy. We need to Invest in renewable energy, plant more trees, save electricity and power, eat organically grown food, recycle material and use public transport.

Pakistan is an agrarian country and ranks at the ninth populous in the world and is unable to meet its growing water and food demands. Floods, droughts, famine, unemployment and increase in inflation are weakening the basis of our country. It is a good sign that international organizations are joining hands to control climate change. Laws are being made and treaties are being signed. Bans are being imposed on cutting trees. It is an hour of need and we as an individuals should take it as a responsibility to save the planet for present and future generations. We are the ones who will work miracle together, the planet itself is a miracle. Let's marvel at its beauty and preserve it.

Do not waste water even if you were at a running stream.

— Prophet Muhammad (Peace Be Upon Him)

Water is an essential factor for life and nothing can stay alive without it. Plants cannot grow without water. When plenty of water was available, more and more barren lands were brought under cultivation. Even sand dunes were converted into greenfields. However the abundance of water has spoiled our habits and led us to misuse this natural resource to the extent of excessive wastage resulting in scarcity of water.

At present, when water is becoming a scarce commodity, we are continuing the same old habits of wasting water. Each one of us uses 150 Litres of water every day to cook clean and wash which is way more than the necessity. The water conveyance losses in Pakistan, under existing canal distribution system, are more than 50%. Our negligence in making proper policies have created drought like situation in the country. As a result of global warming, intensity of precipitation from sky is decreasing every year.

DHA is playing an important role in Water Conservation with multiple campaigns on awareness and water metering. Water metering currently is helping in avoiding wastage and creating a sense of civic & social obligation towards water management.

We as citizens should take into account our personal water usage, playing our part to deal with the issue of water wastage and water conservation.

A collective approach is needed; citizens and individuals must engage with community campaigns across the country in responsible use of water. Now it's time to take action.

Lets do it together!

1. Turn Off Faucet while brushing Teeth/Shaving.
2. Take a quick shower instead of a bath.
3. Only wash Full Loads of Laundry.
4. Use a Broom Instead of a Hose to clean the driveway.
5. Use a Bucket instead of a hose to wash your Vehicles.
6. Use a Pot of water to wash fresh produce instead of a running tap.
7. Catch rainwater, installing water butts saves up to 5,000 litres of water a year and your plants will thank you for rainwater rather than treated tap water.
8. You can also cut water use by 33% by watering plants manually instead of using automatic sprinklers.
